

REMOTE LEARNING WEEKLY CURRICULUM PLANNER -PHOTOGRAPHY

Week Beginning:
20/4/20

Please continue to document and edit your Lock down photographic diary again this week.

Many photographers use the medium of photography to document their day-to-day life, using it as a diary of events, thoughts and moments. With this in mind, the aim of this project is for you to use photography as a way of recording and documenting your life through this very unusual and different time we find ourselves in. During the period we are all in lockdown in our homes, you are to take a photograph daily or twice weekly which captures your own feelings and experiences.

To get this project started, please go to these useful website articles, which takes you through how to create a Photo Diary and what sort of photographs you could take.

- Set up a format such as a PowerPoint, Word document, an online album or an actual diary or scrapbook in which you will present a minimum of 10 photographs of various subject matter taken from your lockdown life – portraits, selfies, objects, a favourite meal, views from windows, pets, anything which catches your eye.
- You may edit the photographs if you wish using any editing software or apps you may have, or you can keep the photographs natural. We do not need you to present screenshots of how you edited your shots (but you can if you think it helps tell the story of your photo).
- Next to each photograph you are to write a paragraph which compliments the photo in a diary style. It may be a paragraph about what you did that day, a comment about how you are feeling, thoughts about the lockdown itself or a simple description of the photo itself and why you took it.
- You can present this diary as a hand-rendered document (handwritten with printed photos) like a diary or scrapbook or present it in the digital formats listed in the first point.
- Your photography teacher will set you Remote Learning Weekly tasks using Google Classroom. You will be expected to present a minimum of ONE PHOTO AND WRITTEN DESCRIPTION each week. You must upload your work onto Google Classroom or if that is not possible, email it directly to your photography teacher.
